Interesting Entertainment.

The Juvenile Temperance Band gave one of its semi-monthly entertainments at the North Bay Mission rooms, last evening, which was well attended. The programme consisted of songs, solos and recitations. Short addresses were made by gentlemen present. The ladies interested in this organization are doing a noble work and feel highly gratified at the results already accomplished.

The Withdrawn Nominations.

The "machine" nominations withdrawn by President Garfield yesterday, without statement of reasons or explanations, but simply to spite Conkling, are as follows:

Lewis F. Payn, as Marshal of the Southern District of New York.
Citoton B. MacDongall, as Marshal of the Northern District of New York.
John Tyler, as Collector of the Port of Buffalo.
Ass. W. Tenney, as United States Attorney for the Eastern District of New York.
Steward L. Woodford, as United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Early Planting of Potatoes.

Some farmers are planting potatoes thus early in order to have a shorter battle with the bugs. As a rule also the early planted escape drouth at a critical period, and yield best. It is a common practice in field culture to furrow out the hills with a plow, but a well posted correspondent says he never saw the tubers covered better than a day or two ago, when a horse hos was being used.

Wreck of the Swallow.

The Catakill Recorder says among the passengers on the Hudson, and Athens ferryboat Wednesday, was Mr. David L. Finch. He was a passenger on the ill-fated steamboat Swallow on the night of the disaster, and was taken off by the steamer Rochester. This was his first visit to the scene since that time, and he inquired for the location of the Swallow rock, which is now removed from sight, and partially covered by an ice house dock.

Truly Good.

Which will you do, smile and make your household happy, says editor Remick in Light and Life, or be crabbed and make all those young ones gloomy, and the elder ones miserable? The amount of happiness you can produce is incalculable, if you show a smiling face, a kind heart and speak pleasant words. Wear a pleasant countenance; let the joy beam in your eyes, and love glow on your forehead. There is no joy like that which springs from a kind act or a pleasant deed; and you will feel it at night when you rest, at morning when you rise, and through the day when about your

How to Keep Eggs.

An exchange says in the month of May, 1880, Mrs. Ingraham buried one dozen hen's eggs in some moist sand in her cellar. Several months afterward she removed all the eggs but one, and found them as fresh as on the day they were burried. One was left in the sand by mistake, and was found one day last week. Mrs. Ingraham broke the shell and was surprised to find the egg, after being buried almost a year, fresh, sweet and perfectly preserved in every way. The white had retained its consistency, and the flavor was fresh and agreeable. This incident seems to point to a new, simple and reliable way of preserving eggs for an indefinite period of time, and is worthy of a trial on a large scale. The method is cheap and can be adopted without expense or incon venience.

Presentation to Heary Waterman, St.

There was a pleasant gathering at the house of J. W. Hoysradt Hose Co. No. 8 last evening. After the business of the regular monthly meetings, large delegations from various companies in the city called to join their congratuations to Second Assistant Engineer of the Department, Henry Waterman, 2d, who was the recipient of a fire cost, fire hat, fatigue cap and belt, as a present from the company. H. D. Gage, as chairman of the company, made the presentation of the coat and cap. After referring in a few well chosen words to the record of Mr. Waterman as a private and an officer in the company, Frank T. Punderson, on behalf of the younger members of the company, made an earnest speech, presenting a fine fire hat and belt. Mr. Waterman was not prepared for this last token, and showed in words of acceptance how deeply he appreciated the kindly words of fellowship as well as more weighty proof of the high estimation the company and fire department place in his services. After the presentation a collation was served and the evening spent in friendly intercourse. The cost, hat and belt is on exhibition at the store of Mesers. Tilley & Alderoftt, in Central May's Celestial Phenomena.

The great feature of the month is the marrelous planetary combination that distinguishes its passage. No such marshaling of planetary orbs has occurred for centuries in the past, nor will be witnessed for centuries to come. Five of the eight planets form an almost straight line with the sun and the earth. Starting from the earth on the 3d, our brilliant neighbor, Venus, heads the grand array. The glorious sun comes next in view, while little Mercury, on his western side, is speeding with rapid steps to join the ranks. The vast orbs of Jupiter and Saturage little out of plumb, fill in the ranks slightly to the west, and Neptune closes the show only one day's travel eastward of the line. These huge denizens of space span the nconcelvable distance of nearly 2,800,000,000 miles, stretching from the earth to the system's remotest bounds. Venus, Jupiter, Saturn, Neptane and Mercury clustering in the sign Paurus, at the same time, is a phenomenon to be remembered for a lifetime.

Every week we are called upon to record one or more serious or fatal accidents from carelessness in the use of kerosene. Many cases are the work of folly, but the majority of them, if traced to their source, would be found to lay at the doors of dealers who, for two or three cents per gallon additional profit, palm off on un' suspecting customers an article which they well know to be as inflammable and dangerous as gun powder. It is high time that our authorities take hold of this matter, and when these accidents occur investigate their course, find where the article causing the accident was purchased, examine it and see if it was below the legal test standard; and if so found, see to it that the guilty grocer or vender is punished according to law. This is the only way in which to insure protection to life and property; yet what coroner or other official will ever move in this March 28-dawtf.

The following we out from a California paper nore than a year ago. There is more truth in t than poetry for the young, and some reformers would do well to set upon it:

"Then shall the kingdom of Salan be likened to a grain of tobacco seed; which, though exseedingly small, being cast into the ground grew, and became a great plant, and spread us leaves rank and broad, so that huge and vile worms formed a habitation thereon. And it system, and besides, there is always somebody came to pass, in the course of time, that the to row, do what they will. Give them a pat now and then." o make lads look big and manly. So they put forth their hands and did chew thereof. And ome it made sick, and others to vomit most filthily. And it farther came to pass that those who chewed it became weak and unmanly, and said we are enslaved, and can't cease from shewing it. And the mouths of all that were enslaved became foul; and they were seized with a violent spitting; and they did spit, even in ladies' pariors, and in the house of the Lord of Hosts. And the saints of the Most High vere greatly plagued thereby. And in the course of time it came also to pass that others snuffed it; and they were taken suddenly with fits, and they did sneeze with a great and mighty meeze, insomuch that their eyes filled with tears, and they did look exceedingly silly. And get others cunningly wrought the leaves thereof into rolls, and did set fire to the one end thereof, and did suck vehemently at the other and thereof, and did look very grave and calf-like and the smoke of their torment ascended up forever and forever. "And the cultivation thereof became a great and mighty business in the earth; and the nerchantmen waxed rich by the commerce thereof. And it came to pass that the saints of the Most High defiled themselves therewith even the poor who could not buy shoes, nor bread, nor books for their little ones, spent their money for it. And the Lord was greatly displeased therewith, and said "Wherefore this waste; and why do these little ones lack bread and shoes and books? Turn now your fields into corn and wheat; and put this evil far from you; and be separate, and defile not yourselves any more; and I will bless you and cause my face to shine on you. But with one second they exclaimed :

"We cannot cease from chewing, snuffing and puffing-we are slaves."

Practical Purpose of the "P." A pretty plain spoken patron of the press erpetrates this very pertinent piece of poetle prose, and publishes it in a practical paper : "Persons who patronize newspapers should pay promptly, for the pecuniary prospects of the press have peculiar power in pushing for-ward public prosperity. If the printer is paid promptly and his pocket-book kept plethoric by prompt paying patrons, he puts his pen to paper in peace; he paints his pictures of passng events in more pleasant colors, and the perusal of his paper is of more pleasure to his people. Paste this piece of proverbial philoso phy in some place where people can perceive it. Be pleased also to ponder upon it thyself patiently, preservingly and prefitably, and persistently practice its precepts perpetually."
